Dear

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (FOI) REQUEST

I refer to your application under section 30 of the Freedom of Information Act 2016 (the Act), received by the Education Directorate (the Directorate) on 28 November 2023, in which you sought access to:

Copies of all deliverables associated with contract 10049.110, titled "Urban Infill Study".

I am an Information Officer appointed by the Director-General under section 18 of the Act to deal with access applications made under Part 5 of the Act.

In accordance with section 40 of the Act, the Directorate was required to provide a decision on your access application within 30 working days of receipt, being 15 January 2024. On 14 December you were notified that third party consultation was required and the due would be extended to 6 February 2024. You kindly confirmed your understanding that the due date would need to be extended to accommodate the consultation period.

Decision on access

Searches were completed for relevant records and seven records were identified that fall within the scope of your request.

I have included as Attachment A to this decision the schedule of relevant records. This provides a description of each record that falls within the scope of your request and the access decision for each of those records.

In summary, my decision is:

- full access to three records, and
- partial access to four records with deletions applied.

The records released to you are provided as Attachment B to this letter.

My access decisions are detailed further in the following statement of reasons.

Material considered

In reaching my access decision, I have taken the following into account:

- the Act, particularly sections 16, 17, 35 and 50, and schedules 1 and 2;
- the content of the records that fall within the scope of your request;
- the views of third parties consulted;
- the Human Rights Act 2004; and
- the Information Privacy Act 2014.

Reasons for decision

I have considered the records that are relevant to your request in accordance with the requirements of the Act.

Section 6(a) of the Act provides for a right of access to government information unless access would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest. Contrary to the public interest information is defined at section 16 of the Act as information that is taken to be contrary to the public interest to disclose under Schedule 1; or the disclosure of which would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest under the test set out in section 17.

Section 50 of the Act provides for records to be partially released with deletions applied where they contain contrary to the public interest information that can be removed, which enables the remainder of the record to be released. This provision has been applied where appropriate.

Information taken to be contrary to the public interest to disclose

None of the records contain information that is taken to be contrary to the public interest to disclose.

Information, the disclosure of which would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest

The public interest test requires the identification of factors favouring disclosure and non-disclosure, the balancing of those factors, and a decision whether, on balance, disclosure of the information would be contrary to the public interest.

I have decided that the factors favouring disclosure, as listed at Schedule 2.1 of the Act, are that disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to:

- promote open discussion of public affairs and enhance the government's accountability (Schedule 2, 2.1(a)(i));
- contribute to positive and informed debate on important issues or matters of public interest (Schedule 2, 2.1(a)(ii));
- ensure effective oversight of expenditure of public funds (Schedule 2, 2.1(a)(iv)); and

- reveal the reason for a government decision and any background or contextual information that informed the decision (Schedule 2, 2.1(a)(viii)).

I have decided that the applicable factors favouring non-disclosure, as listed at Schedule 2.2 of the Act, are that disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to:

- prejudice the protection of an individual's right to privacy or any other right under the Human Rights Act 2004 (Schedule 2, 2.2(a)(ii))
- prejudice trade secrets, business affairs or research of an agency or person (Schedule 2, 2.2(a)(xi))

I have considered the factors favouring disclosure and the factors favouring non-disclosure.

I place significant weight on the right to privacy of individuals and their right to have their personal information protected. I have decided that their right to privacy in relation to their personal information has a higher standing of public interest not to disclose, than the public interest in disclosing this information. This position is informed by considerations of the requirements of the Human Rights Act 2004 and the Information Privacy Act 2014.

Section 12(a) of the Human Rights Act provides that everyone has the right 'not to have his or her privacy, family, home or correspondence interfered with unlawfully or arbitrarily'. Ombudsman review decisions addressing this matter have stated that this "can essentially be viewed as the right of an individual to preserve their personal sphere from interference by others". In addition, the Territory Privacy Principles contained in the Information Privacy Act 2014, set out the expectation that, in ordinary circumstances, individuals are required to give consent before their personal information, which includes information that could lead to them being identified, is disclosed. Accordingly, third party personal information has been deleted.

In addition, I give stronger weight to protecting the business affairs of companies dealing with the Directorate, where I have deemed that it could reasonably be expected for those companies to be negatively impacted by release of information about them. I have decided that the factor favouring non-disclosure has greater weight than the factors favouring disclosure. Therefore, the information has been redacted from the records.

Charges

In accordance with section [REDACTED] of the Act, processing charges do not apply to your request.

Online publishing – disclosure log

Under section 28 of the Act, the Directorate maintains an online record of access applications called a disclosure log.
