Dear [REDACTED],

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION (FOI) REQUEST:

I refer to your application under section 30 of the Freedom of Information Act 2016 (the Act), received by the Education Directorate (the Directorate) on 1 November 2022, in which you sought access to:

'Any correspondence between the Education Directorate and the Environment, Planning and Sustainable Development Directorate regarding the Molonglo Group Centre and Surrounds Concept Plan during the 2022 calendar year.'

I am an Information Officer appointed by the Director-General under section 18 of the Act to deal with access applications made under Part 5 of the Act.

The Education Directorate was required to provide a decision on your access application by 29 November 2022.

Decision on access

Searches were completed for relevant records and 37 records were identified that fall within the scope of your request.

In summary, my decision is:

- full access to 28 records, and
- partial access to 9 records with deletions applied.

Included as Attachment A to this decision is the schedule of relevant records. This provides a description of each record that falls within the scope of your request and the access decision for each of those records.

The records released to you are provided at Attachment B.

My access decisions are detailed further in the following statement of reasons.

Material considered

In reaching my access decision, I have taken the following into account:

- the FOI Act;
- the content of the records that fall within the scope of your request;
- the Human Rights Act 2004.

Reasons for decision

I have considered the records that are relevant to your request in accordance with the requirements of the Act. The key provisions that are relevant to my decision are:

- Section 6(a) specifies that one of the objects of the Act is to provide a right of access to government information unless access would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest.
- Contrary to the public interest information is defined at section 16 as information that is taken to be contrary to the public interest to disclose under Schedule 1; or the disclosure of which would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest under the test set out in section 17.
- Section 35 specifies how an access application may be decided, which includes but is not limited to deciding to give access to the information, that the information is not held by the agency, refusing to give access to the information because it is contrary to the public interest information, or refusing to deal with the application.
- Section 43 sets out the grounds for an agency to refuse to deal with an access application.
- Section 50 of the Act provides for records to be partially released with deletions applied where they contain contrary to the public interest information that can be deleted, enabling the remainder of the record to be released. This provision has been applied where appropriate.

Access refused

Information that is publicly available

Section 35(1)(d) of the Act provides for an access application to be refused in the circumstances set out at section 43. In accordance with sections 43(1)(d) and 45(a) of the Act, information within the scope of your request that has been addressed in a previous FOI access application is refused because it is publicly available on the Directorate's website. The information referred to is available at https://www.education.act.gov.au/about_us/freedom_of_information/disclosure-log, refer to EDU_2022_013.

Contrary to the public interest information

Information taken to be contrary to the public interest to disclose

None of the records contain information that is taken to be contrary to the public interest to disclose.

Information, the disclosure of which would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest

The public interest test has been applied to the records to determine if they contain information that would, on balance, be contrary to the public interest to disclose.

The public interest test requires the identification of factors favouring disclosure and non-disclosure, the balancing of those factors, and a decision whether, on balance, disclosure of the information would be contrary to the public interest.

I have decided that the factors favouring disclosure, as listed at Schedule 2.1 of the Act, are that disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to:

- promote open discussion of public affairs and enhance government's accountability (Schedule 2, 2.1(a)(i));
- contribute to positive and informed debate on important issues or matters of public interest (Schedule 2, 2.1(a)(ii));
- inform the community of the government's operations, including the policies, guidelines and codes of conduct followed by the government in its dealings with members of the community (Schedule 2, 2.1(a)(iii)),
- reveal the reason for a government decision and any background or contextual information that informed the decision (Schedule 2, 2.2(a)(viii)).

I have decided that the applicable factors favouring non-disclosure in the public interest, as listed at Schedule 2.2 of the Act, are that the information could reasonably be expected to prejudice the protection of an individual's right to privacy or any other right under the Human Rights Act 2004 (Schedule 2, 2.2(a)(ii)).

I have considered the factors favouring disclosure and the factors favouring non-disclosure.

I acknowledge the positive contribution of open discussion of public affairs, contributing to informed debate on important issues and the factors that underpin transparency of government processes as being central tenets to the effectiveness of representative democracy. As such, most of the information is released.

I place significant weight on the right to privacy of individuals and their right to have their personal information protected. I have decided that their right to privacy in relation to their personal information has a higher standing of public interest not to disclose, than the public interest in disclosing this information. Accordingly, third party personal information, which includes signatures and names of employees of external organisations, has been deleted.

In addition, information that is outside of the scope of your request has been deleted from the records.

Charges

I have decided that processing charges are not applicable for your request because the records relate to the development of public schools in new urban areas, and this is a matter of interest to a broad section of the community.

Online publishing – disclosure log

Under section 28 of the Act, the Directorate maintains an online record of access applications called a disclosure log. Information about your request, my decision and records released to you in response to your access application will be published in the Directorate's disclosure log between three and 10 working days after a decision on access has been provided to you. Your personal information will not be published.
