Chief Executive's message

It gives me great pleasure to present to you, the ACT Department of Education and Training Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) 2010-2011. This plan puts into words our longstanding commitment to building lasting and positive relationships with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. It is also a representation of the respect we have for the custodians of the land in which we both teach and learn, the Ngunnawal people, their ongoing culture and contribution to the Canberra community.

The RAP recognises that reconciliation is a part of everyone's daily business in the Department. It identifies real and practical commitments by staff at all levels of our organisation to promote reconciliation. As you read the RAP, you will notice its foundations are firmly built upon the three core areas of relationships, respect and opportunity.

The RAP is an important partner to the Department's Strategic Plan 2010-2013 Everyone Matters which displays our strong commitment to closing the learning achievement gap between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and other students in the ACT. Measurable actions in the RAP, commit the Department to positive and long-lasting improvements in mutual understanding and cooperation with the ACT's Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community in support of this goal.

I am proud to present the Reconciliation Action Plan 2010-11 on behalf of the ACT Department of Education and Training and I look forward to you joining with us on our reconciliation journey.

Introduction

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Education Matters: Strategic Plan 2010–2013 (the Plan) provides clear direction for closing the learning achievement gap between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students and other students. The Plan is clearly aligned with the Department’s strategic plan Everyone Matters 2010–2013, ensuring that the targets set have coherence throughout the organisation.

High quality curriculum, literacy and numeracy, engagement and connection, retention, pathways, relationships and leadership are high priorities of the Plan. The Plan targets cultural competency as an area of capacity building for all staff to ensure that as an organisation we better understand and respond to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities in the ACT.

Our progress in achieving the priorities will be reported annually through both the ACT Government Annual Report and the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Education Action Plan 2010–2014.

Milestone reports from Department branches and schools will provide ongoing monitoring and enable achievements, effective models and approaches to be shared and celebrated.

Glossary

Cultural competence

“Cultural competence” is a term that is used broadly across the education sector. The definition used in the Strategy “sees” a distinct but cumulative relationship between cultural awareness (knowing), cultural sensitivity (appreciating), cultural competence (practising, demonstrating) and cultural proficiency (embedding as organisational practice). It requires the ability to “see” issues and experiences from another person’s perspective and to know oneself in a cultural context – that is to understand oneself as a cultural being. Cultural competence is part of a developmental process underpinned by relationships. It evolves over time.

Culturally responsive supervision

Culturally responsive supervision is about both cultural accountability and cultural development. It ensures that the aspirations of all cultures are respected and explored within the supervisory relationship and that services are delivered through culturally respectful, effective and acceptable practices.

Personalised Learning Strategies

Personalised Learning Strategies refers to the suite of strategies that schools will use to support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students. Strategies depend on the individual needs of the student. They include but are not restricted to Individual Learning Plans, Personalised Learning Plans and Student Pathways Plans. Students in the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Student Aspirations Program will have their goals from the program incorporated into Personalised Learning Plans or Student Pathways Plans. Strategies will be developed in consultation with parents/carers and students.

The Bogong moth represents the Bogong time, when different language groups gathered in this area to feast on the plentiful supply of Bogongs. This annual event also enabled exchange between the various clans to carry out initiation ceremonies, reconcile differences and settle disputes.
